Try the test environment

```
1 // get sph-transaction-id as a GET parameter
2 var request = new paymentHighway.CommitTransactionRequest(1990, 'EUR');
3
4 paymentAPI.commitTransaction('f23a9be0-15fe-43df-98ac-92f6a5731c3b', request)
5   .then(function(response){
6     var resultCode = response.result.code; // Should be 100, if OK
7   });

Transparent & Security First

Costs are easy to predict—even if something goes wrong. You only pay for successful charging and reverting and storing of a card, and you can choose your acquirer (or even multiple simultaneous acquirers) yourself to optimize the costs and acceptance.

We take care of the security so you don't have to! Validating risky payers is effortless with strong authentication while low risk payments go through with confidence.
